We are fast becoming the source of supply for safety razors and shaving accessories of all kinds. We carry all the standard safety razors that have been produced to date and just as soon as a new one gains prestige you will find it here. This week we are making a special display of the Auto-Strip razor. While the initial cost of this razor is more than of some of the others, it has many points in its favor and the makers' claim that the cost per shave is considerably less than any other safety razor on the market.

"There's Work for Segall"

Yesterday a man—a stranger in El Paso—dropped his glasses on the post office steps. A bystander remarked—"There's work for Segall." The man overheard him and got our address. In just one hour we had duplicated the broken lens.

The above incident brings out several important facts, but the main one is that this particular lens could not have been duplicated anywhere else in El Paso.
